INDIAN ARMY TO UNVEIL LIGHT AND CLIMATE-FRIENDLY NEW UNIFORM TOMORROW; HERE'S ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW

Relevant for: Science & Technology | Topic: Defence related developments

The new Army Combat Pattern Uniform has been developed with the help of NIFT after going through options of 15 patterns, eight designs, and four fabrics.

Indian Army is set to introduce a light and more climate-friendly combat uniform for its personnel during the Army Day parade, on January 15. The camouflage uniform will will be based on a "digital disruptive" pattern and will be available in 13 sizes.

Here's all you need to know about the new combat uniform of the Indian Army:

Yesterday, the Indian Army dismissed the comparisons between the new combat uniform with LTTE uniform. The Army said that both are 'distinctively different' adding that filters have been used on the new Army pattern to distort its appearance.

Major Gaurav Arya (Retd) took to Twitter and wrote, "Some people…ill-informed or downright malicious are saying that the uniform resembles the LTTE uniform. Here is what the new army combat dress looks like. Prabhakaran is seen wearing LTTE uniform".
