

In demography, what is Chain Migration

This refers to the process wherein the emigration of a certain group of people from a region causes more people from the same region to move to a particular foreign destination. Such migration happens as a result of the increasing spread of positive information about the foreign destination among a certain population through the early settlers. This encourages more people from the same region to move to the foreign country in search of better economic and other opportunities. The first movers to a foreign country are also likely to help more people from their family and hometowns to move out and settle into a new foreign destination.

Receive the best of The Hindu delivered to your inbox everyday!

Please enter a valid email address.

Positive developments are taking place with regard to female genital mutilation

END

Downloaded from crackIAS.com

© Zuccess App by crackIAS.com