“The Supreme Court is working hard to institutionalise live-streaming of court proceedings and frame a uniform and national model,” Chief Justice of India-designate, Justice D.Y. Chandrachud said on Thursday.

Justice Chandrachud, heading a Bench with Justice Hima Kohli, said efforts are on to set up a national infrastructure where proceedings in all courts, from subordinate courts to High Courts and the Supreme Court, can be beamed live from a single platform.

“We need a uniform framework for courts across the country... This has to be done as a national model,” Justice Chandrachud said.

The Bench was hearing a petition filed by advocate Mathews Nedumpara on live-streaming of proceedings.
